

A CRITICISM AND A PROPHECY

The man who wrote that luminous article in the Banner this morning, headed, "Looking Backward and Forward," and signed "Observer," must have hailed from Pedro. He is evidently trying to make himself believe he is the son of a prophet when he attempts to shed light on the second primary in the sheriff's race by assuring the voting public that his candidate, who is Mr. Galloway, is a sure winner, because Mr. Henry Gordon has expended all his strength, and that Mr. Galloway, who has all his strength in reserve, will turn on the electric battery for the home stretch and just "swish" by Gordon on the 7th, and land an easy victor. Now, that sounds pretty, and so consoling to "Observer," but if "Observer" has been observing around the county precincts and has heard the quiet but meaning talk of the progressive and thoughtful voter, he will know that the yeomanry of the land, the pillars of our form of government, have something up their sleeves for Mr. Galloway that will cause him to "go way back and sit down" for at least four years, and he and his friends will be sedately remarking to themselves, "Where did you intimate we are at and what are we here for." I know whereof I am writing. I am the son of several prophets and prophetesses. I not only know the feeling among the voters in my precinct and their views on the candidates for sheriff, but I've heard others talk. Referring to "Observer," I desire to say that it may some times be a good thing to be an early bird and secure the two previous worms, but it is a better thing if you can't get the worm on the first round to place it where it becomes sure force and possession on the second dash out of the box, and just there is where it now is—Gordon's finding. "Observer" talks through his hat when he hints that deals and combines with other officers was the cause of Gordon's lead in the first primary, also of the influence that Gordon's precinct gave him in the line-up of men, their time and their money. This is good; it's food for thought; it verifies a motive for human action as regards civic virtues. What does it tell? That Gordon established his manhood and reputation as a person of individuality, with honor and character, among people who marked his everyday life. These so impressed the people of Dunnellon that they saw he had the requisite qualifications for a first class city marshal, and acting on this concerted thought they placed him in that position and he unequivocally demonstrated his fitness. What next? When it became noised abroad that Mr. Gordon had higher ambitions, that he desired to be sheriff of Marion county, what did his people do, who saw the splendid work he had performed for Dunnellon and its leading citizens in all lines of business? They went to him, besought him to give up his sheriff's aspirations, with the assurance that the office of marshal was his as long as he wrought so effectively as he had done, with extra pecuniary inducements thrown in. When these failed, these same people turned in with the spirit that said "if we can't change your mind we will unite and try to give Marion county a man from our view point whose very make-up will give the people an officer whom they will be proud of." Whatever else might be said in contrast, as between Gordon's standing in Dunnellon and Mr. Galloway's in Ocala, it demonstrates at least the worth in which Mr. Gordon stands at home, in which, on general principles, it is safe to say the opinion is correct.

TEN CENT EMBROIDERIES FOR FIVE CENTS PER YARD. AT THE BOSTON STORE.

Dr. W. S. Gillock was duly surprised with a formidable array of books this morning, patently being surrounded with local arguments in a big campaign case, representing $20,000. Attorneys H. L. Anderson and Charles Floyd and Young stood for the plaintiffs, while Hon. Horatio Davis, one of the business lights of the Gainesville high, stood for its dissolution. It is a case of thought and power.

OFFICIAL ROUTE U. C. V.

Headquarters Florida Division, U. C. V. Tallahassee, Fla., May 14, 1902.

(Supplement to General Order No. 43)

Gentlemen: The time is rapidly approaching for the meeting of the Confederate Veterans Reunion, which convenes in Nashville, Tenn., June 14-16. The railroads have made the low rate of one cent per mile traveled by us, and it is hoped that as many as possible will attend. Arrangements have been made for special coaches from Jacksonville to carry the veterans and their friends to Nashville. These coaches are to be for their exclusive use and will leave Jacksonville Sunday night, June 12, at 10:00 p. m., via the Dixie Flyer route. Buy your ticket that way and come to Jacksonville if possible. See that your ticket reads as follows: Atlantic Coast Line to Tifton, Georgia, Southern and Florida to Macon, Central of Georgia to Atlanta, and Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Ry., to Nashville (the Battleford Route). This we find to be the shortest and most direct route. The adjustments of all camps will please report as promptly as possible the names of all veterans and their friends who will attend the reunion, so that ample accommodations can be provided for their transportation. You will please post this circular in a conspicuous place.

By order of Major General W. D. Ballantine, commanding Florida division, United Confederate Veterans.

For further information relatives to railroad rates, etc., write to J. H. Ruffery, district passenger agent, Georgia Southern and Florida Ry., No. 201 West Bay St., Jacksonville, Fla.

Fred L. Robertson, Adjutant-General and Chief of Staff.

SPECIAL NOTICE

The next visit to Ocala of Dr. E. T. Allen, the eye, ear, nose and throat surgeon, of Tampa, will be Thursday, June 2, at the Montezuma Hotel.
